

Tax Credits and Incentives: ERC attorneys

For comprehensive tax planning, the numbers are in our favor.

Employee Retention Credit (ERC)

What is Employee Retention Credit?

The Employee Retention Credit (ERC) is a refund setup to reimburse small and medium-sized business owners who kept their employees on payroll during the pandemic.

How does Employee retention credit work?

Data Gathering: You will meet with one of our experienced ERC attorneys who will discuss the process with you and answer any questions you may have. After that, you will be given access to securely upload your business's data to the firm's server.

Credit Calculation: Next, we go to work for you calculating the credit to obtain the largest refund you deserve.

Filing Amended Returns: We will file all your required amended returns on your behalf.

Receive Your Refund: Once you receive your refund, there are no strings attached, you can reinvest the money back into your business and return to doing what you do best.

Why Howard & Howard for your Employee Retention Credit needs?

Because we are a business law firm who specializes in servicing small and medium-sized businesses. Perhaps the strongest attribute of Howard & Howard's Tax Group attorneys is their experience and ability to apply insight and perspective across the full spectrum of business tax planning. Our depth and breadth of knowledge demonstrate that no one knows their way around tax codes and laws like we do.
